

CHARGE PRESIDENT OVERRODE CHIEF OF STAFF

CONSERVATION OF U. S. RESOURCES IS PROPOSED BY FDR

President Sends Report With Suggestions to Congress

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt submitted to congress for its consideration today a national resources committee report proposing policies, investigations, and legislation to carry forward a broad national program for the "prudent utilization and conservation of the nation's energy resources."

In a special message the President said national policies concerning coal, oil, gas and water power "must recognize the availability of all of them." Instead of prescribing separate policies for each.

"Some federal legislation affecting the energy resources will expire at the end of this fiscal year, other legislation at the end of a few more years," Roosevelt said. "This report sets forth a useful frame of reference for legislative programs affecting these resources and illustrates another approach to the systematic husbandry of our natural resources. Specific recommendations are advanced for solution of the most pressing problem."

U. S. Uses More Energy

Roosevelt said the United States uses more energy per capita than any other nation and "our scientists tell us there will be a progressively increasing demand for energy for all purposes."

"Our energy resources are not inexhaustible," he asserted. "Yet we are permitting waste in their use and production. In some instances, to achieve apparent economies today future generations will be forced to carry the burden of unnecessarily high costs and to substitute inferior fuels for particular purposes."

"National policies concerning these vital resources must recognize the availability of all of them; the location of each with respects to its markets; the costs of transporting them; the technological developments which will increase the efficiency of their production and use; the use of the lower grade coals; and the relationships between the increased use of energy and the general economic developments of the country."

Ohio Uxoricide Killed Self In Catholic Church

Cleveland, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Benedict A. Jender, sought by police in connection with the slaying of his estranged wife, shot and killed himself in the front pew of downtown St. John's cathedral today after attending mass, Coroner Samuel R. Gerber reported.

Joseph A. Krizman, an attorney worshipping nearby, said Jender knelt throughout the service and remained in the pew after the Catholic priest, the Rev. William B. Gallagher, retired to the sacristy. Then, Krizman said, a shot sounded and he discovered Jender slumped on the floor, a revolver near his hand.

Coroner Gerber disclosed a scribbled will in the dead man's pocket concluded: "God have mercy on my soul. This is the only way out."

Mrs. Jender was shot to death yesterday at the home of Frank Skowronski where she and a 13-year-old daughter, Florence, have lived since last November.

Skowronski told authorities Jender fired at his wife three times after she told him she planned obtaining a divorce.

Gavel From Old Pile in Rock River to Be Presented to McLean

A gavel formed from a white oak piling taken from beneath one of the piers of the dismantled Galena avenue bridge structure, is to be presented to President C. J. McLean of the Rock River chapter of the Illinois Society of Engineers at the meeting this evening at the Brinton Memorial Masonic temple, Fred Shappert of the Shappert Engineering Company of Belvidere, builder of the new bridge, selected the piece of timber and members of his force have made the gavel to be presented at this evening's meeting. The gavel will bear a silver plate upon which will be inscribed the date of the presentation, the name of the chapter, the donor and the date that the piece of timber was removed from the river.

Sentenced—

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Charles Maulding was under a new kind of sentence today for Springfield traffic violations.

Charged with running two stop signs, Maulding was ordered by Justice of the Peace J. P. Dunn to listen to ten radio broadcasts of the city's safety program and make a written report on each one.

If Maulding fails to hand in his report, a suspended fine of $25 and costs will become effective.

Final League Concert Here February 24th

Percy Aldridge Grainger, eminent pianist and composer, who was born 56 years ago in Melbourne, Australia, will be the outstanding artist offered by the Dixon Concert League in the last concert of the season, Friday evening, Feb. 24, at the High School auditorium.

Grainger, as one of America's beloved composers and pianists, does not need a great deal of publicity or introduction, in that he has endeared himself to the people by his folk music. His playing is simple and direct, as is his outlook upon life and upon every phase of living. For this reason he has understood the manner of procedure in his research for folk music of every people. Long before Grainger became the idol of the American public he had spent much time gathering valuable material among the folk singers of many countries.

Some of his most successful compositions are his set of four "Irish Dances" on themes by Stanford; his arrangements of English, Welsh and Irish tunes for unaccompanied chorus which are all marked by strong individuality and brilliant treatment; "Flower-waltz from Tchaikowsky's Casse-Noisette; Country Gardens, Shepherd's Hey, Irish Tune from County Derry, Clog Dance, Handel in the Strand, and many others familiar to music lovers.

The concert will begin at 8:00 o'clock, and the officers of the league are anticipating a capacity audience.

Rob Bank Messengers Of $35,000 in Ohio

Norwalk, Conn., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Five bandits held up two bank messengers and a policeman today and escaped with an estimated $35,000 after firing at the officer and then slugging him with a pistol butt.

The messengers and their guard had just got the currency, intended for the City National bank, from the postoffice when an lighted from the street outside four men alighted from an automobile and commanded "give us that money."

Two of the bandits snatched the money, contained in a leather pouch, from the messengers while two others set upon the policeman. During the struggle one of the gunmen fired a shot at the officer but it missed its mark. A fifth man stayed behind the car wheel.

President's Secretary Ill; Taken to Hospital

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary to President Roosevelt, was taken ill with intestinal influenza today and doctors ordered him to the naval hospital for treatment.

One of many federal officials, including the President, who have been hit by gripe or flu, McIntyre's condition was described at the White House as quite serious.

Ohio River and Its Tributaries Again Cause Some Apprehension

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 16.—(AP)—The Ohio river and its tributaries, fed by additional rains and snow, were rising again today as an anti-climax to last week's high waters which drove hundreds of residents from lowland homes.

Government meteorologists predicted little danger in the upper Ohio valley, but in the lower valley, which has not yet received the crest of last week's flood, the effect of the new rise remained in some doubt.

The predicted crest of the Ohio in Paducah, where water already covered several streets, was increased from 48 to 50 feet. Flood stage is 43 feet. Considerable damage is expected if the river reaches 52 feet. Red Cross officials prepared to move families from lowland homes.

REYNOLDS WIRE OFFICIALS DENY UNION'S CHARGE

Hearing on CIO Allegations to be Held Here March 2

Chicago, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The Reynolds Wire Company of Dixon, Ill., was named today in a complaint issued by the regional office of the National Labor Relations Board.

The board alleged the company discouraged activities of employees in behalf of the C. I. O. Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel & Tin Workers of North America, discharged one employee, sponsored and dominated a company union known as the Reynolds Wire Employees Association.

The complaint was based on charges filed by the Amalgamated. A hearing will begin March 2 at the Dixon city hall with Attorney Stephen M. Reynolds representing the board.

COMPANY'S STATEMENT

Interviewed today, the Reynolds Wire Co. state that they have, as yet, received no official notice of the hearing mentioned in the above news dispatch, but state "they have at no time interfered with the activities of its employees, in violation of the National Labor Relations Act. It has neither encouraged nor discouraged any activities on the part of its employees—neither has it discharged, demoted, or in any way disciplined, at any time, any of its employees for any labor union activities."

"The Reynolds Wire Co. has a contract with an association of its employees. This association was formed by the employees themselves, and was not encouraged, financed, or otherwise aided, in any way, by Reynolds Wire Co."

"The company welcomes the hearing by the National Labor Relations Board and will place at the disposal of the Board all of the facts."

Driverless Car and Truck at Large Here

A car belonging to R. Neilson of this city was slightly damaged last evening when the brakes failed to hold, allowing it to back west on Second street from in front of St. Paul's Lutheran church, across Hennepin avenue and against the curb on the north side of Second street west of Hennepin avenue, without striking any other parked machines.

At 9:30 this morning a truck from which the driver was discharging freight north of Commercial alley on Galena avenue, started toward River street when the brakes failed to hold. The driver after a short sprint, succeeded in stopping the truck before it reached River street, and avoided a collision.

FOR CROP ASSURANCE

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—A complete revision of the administration farm program for wheat and cotton was proposed in the senate today by Senator Lee (D-Okla.).

The Oklahomaan introduced his domestic allotment farm bill under which the government would assure growers 20 cents a pound for cotton and $1.25 a bushel for wheat consumed in this country.

One Fish Story—

Blue Rapids, Kas., Feb. 16.—(AP)—George Barker lost his glass eye while hunting raccoons 18 years ago.

The other day Louie Cherney was seining in a creek near Barker's old hunting ground. His net brought up a glass eye. Barker claimed it.

Two Judges On Duty In Lee Co. Circuit Court

Two circuit judges were presiding at hearings today at the court house, Judge Leon A. Zick of Oregon sitting in the circuit court room and Judge Harry Edwards of this city, in his chambers. A number of witnesses were subpoenaed to appear before Judge Zick today in a hearing brought by Peter Poulos to decide the right of title to property occupied by the plaintiff on Fifth street between Galena and Hennepin avenues, where he conducts a neighborhood grocery.

Several stood in the hallway at the entrance to the Judge Edwards' chamber to listen to testimony being taken in a divorce proceeding brought by Mrs. Oliver Bradford of this city against Orle Bradford, automobile salesman of Rockford, formerly of Dixon. The latter was represented by Attorney Ingrassia of Rockford and Attorney W. T. Terrill of this city appeared for Mrs. Bradford.

The divorce proceeding was contested and charges and counter charges were made in rapid succession until a recess was taken at the noon hour. A packet of letters, alleged to have been written by "Mrs. X" of this city were to be examined by defense counsel before the hearing was resumed at 1:30 this afternoon. The plaintiff in her testimony, related various acts of cruelty, which on one occasion prompted her to grasp the butcher knife with the intent of taking her own life.

Wind and Snow Move From East To Middle West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

High winds whipping rough seas today endangered small craft off the Atlantic coast, and in other parts of the country there were gales, arctic cold and threat of floods.

In the wake of yesterday's freak weather in which high winds slashed widely scattered points, the country's death toll rose to at least 16.

A 40-mile-an hour wind swept Nantucket and was still higher off Block Island, R. I., where several small houses and two life boats were blown away.

The ocean-going tug Keshena bound from Norfolk, Va., to Boston, was disabled temporarily in Vineyard Sound with 21 men aboard, but later continued toward Boston.

Off Manistique, Mich., the fishing tug Bob S. and an Ann Arbor railroad car ferry that went to its assistance were trapped in an ice field, and a Coast Guard cutter stood by.

Snow and swiftly dropping temperatures accompanied the storm as it moved eastward from the midwest, freezing rain-swept highways but lowering the flood menace in the upper Ohio valley.

Effect of rainfall, in the lower valley, still unreached by the flooded Ohio's crest, remained doubtful. Lowlanders along the river and its unruly tributaries, the Tennessee and Cumberland, hoped the cold wave would check rising waters.

Red Cross officials, however, prepared to move many families. Ohio river waters, already seven feet above flood stage at Paducah, Ky., overflowed several streets there.

Roads remained hazardous in the middle west although the mercury was climbing from sub-zero lows in Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois. Snow was forecast for Chicago.

MISS WRIGHT "CAPPED"

Miss Ruth Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wright of Nelson township, was one of fourteen nurses of the Swedish-American hospital school of nursing at Rockford who were presented their caps by Miss Peterson, superintendent of the hospital, in a special service in Our Saviour's Lutheran church in Rockford last Sunday evening.

NO "FLU" IN DIXON

Dr. J. B. Werren, city health physician, stated today that influenza which has reached near-epidemic proportions in many localities in Illinois, has not appeared here. At the same time he urged Dixonites to exercise unusual care in the treatment of colds as a means of preventing a spread of influenza locally. Only two quarantineable cases are existent in Dixon at the present time Dr. Werren added, these being two cases of scarlet fever, both of which are of the mild type.

Ashton Township and Village Will Vote on Local Option Issue

According to reports reaching Dixon today, both the village of Ashton and Ashton township will vote on the local option question this spring. One set of petitions is being circulated to place the issue relating to the city of Ashton on the ticket at the municipal election, while another petition calling for a vote at the township poll is also in circulation.

A contest is reported to have developed in the selection of candidates for supervisor of Ashton township. John J. Wagner, veterinarian, board member and former chairman of the board is a candidate for re-election and is opposed by George Stephan, a former coroner of Lee county.

King "Not Adverse" to McNutt For President

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Senator King (D-Utah) said today he "would not be adverse" to the selection of Paul V. McNutt, Philippine high commissioner, as the 1940 Democratic presidential nominee.

"He is a fine man, an able man and has many qualifications," said King, a frequent administration critic.

"Of course there are others I would prefer but I would much rather see him nominated than one of these rabid New Dealers."

NELSON "NIGHT CLUB" MANAGER MUST LEAVE LEE

Departure From County or Jail, Sentence of Justice Kaufman

Harold Dodd, 38, proprietor of what has been termed as the Nelson "Night club", was arrested in bed at his place of business late yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Gilbert Finch and Deputy Leroy Bates, who were summoned there hurriedly to quiet a reported riot. Dodd was in bed when the officers arrived and was ordered to dress, after which he was taken to the county jail.

Arraigned before Justice Fremont J. Kaufman this morning on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Mrs. Evelyn Skaggs, his daughter, Dodd was assessed a fine of $75 and the costs. The court suspended sentence with the provision that Dodd and other residents of his place of business at Nelson leave Lee county within a week. Failure to comply with the court order will bring Dodd's being confined in the county jail.

Numerous Complaints

Sheriff Finch stated today that the Dodd place had been the subject of numerous complaints. Enroute to Nelson, the officers overtook Mrs. Dodd and a second daughter, who had walked to Dixon to confer with an attorney concerning a divorce proceeding for the daughter and were returning home. They were taken to their home where Dodd was placed under arrest. Members of the family were reported to have complained of a quarrel which started yesterday morning and continued to gain momentum until late in the afternoon. The Dodd family went to Nelson from Rock Falls several months ago, Sheriff Finch stated.

Says Wilson Refused To Quit Presidency At Doctor's Advice

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, whose late husband was vice-president under Woodrow Wilson, said in an interview last night that the wartime chief executive, although seriously ill, refused to quit the presidency in the fall of 1919 despite the advice of his personal physician, Dr. Cary T. Grayson.

"Dr. Grayson also was my physician," Mrs. Marshall said, "and I heard from his own lips the incident in which he advised the President to resign. I have never told it before."

"Dr. Grayson told President Wilson, 'If you resign now, you will be regarded as the greatest president since Lincoln.' The President said, 'I never intend to resign.'"

President Wilson's widow, Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson, in a current national magazine (Saturday Evening Post) article, recalled that she asked Dr. Francis X. Dercum, nerve specialist, if President Wilson should resign "and let Mr. Marshall succeed to the presidency."

Mrs. Wilson quotes Doctor Dercum as advising against such a course because "it would have a bad effect on the country and a serious effect on our patient."

Ailing Crabb Is Taken From Jail Cell to Hospital

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Willis W. Crabb was removed today from his cell in Peoria county jail to St. Francis hospital for treatment of a painful case of sciatic rheumatism.

The former leading banker of nearby Delavan and Tazewell county spent a "miserable" night in jail, attendants said, after he was sentenced yesterday in Federal court to four years imprisonment for forgery and misapplying about $75,000 of bank funds.

Dr. John Sloan, Federal physician for the Peoria district, prescribed medicine, said Crabb was in "extreme pain" and obtained permission for transfer to the hospital from U. S. Marshal Paul E. Ruppel of Springfield.

Jail attendants said Crabb was unable to arise from his cell cot this morning without assistance, although later he was able to walk to an automobile when he was taken to the hospital by Dr. Sloan and Deputy Marshal Carl Blair of Springfield.

A guard was installed in the hospital room. Jail attendants added that Crabb ate no breakfast.

Crabb had been ill during investigation of affairs of the Tazewell County National Bank of Delavan, from the presidency of which he was ousted a month ago, and had been in a hospital twice before.

Last night was the first Crabb had ever spent in jail. Court attaches said his illness would delay his removal to a Federal prison but that he is, nevertheless, serving time on the sentence either in jail or the hospital here.

Funeral of John H. Brooks Held in Polo

(Telegraph Special Service)

Polo, Feb. 16.—Funeral services for John Henry Brooks, 69, who died at 7:45 A. M. Tuesday in East Moline, were conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Strickler funeral home. The Rev. Sidney Bloomquist, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, officiated, and burial was in Fairmount cemetery.

Mr. Brooks, whose death was caused by a heart attack, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brooks of Polo. He was born Oct. 11, 1869, and had spent most of his life in and near Polo, where he was formerly a blacksmith. He had never married.

Surviving are two brothers, William of Los Angeles, Calif., and Robert of Moline; and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Evans of Freeport, Mrs. Rose Howe of San Diego, Calif., and Miss Kate Brooks of this city.

Four UAWA Agents in California Arrested

Los Angeles, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Indicted by the county grand jury on charges of intimidating non-union workers at the Chrysler Motor Company plant here, four organizers for local No. 230, United Automobile Workers of America, were under arrest today.

Policies were seeking 11 others named in the indictments which charge one count of conspiracy, nine counts of extortion and three of attempted extortion.

Deputy District Attorney Russell Parsons said the extortion charges were the first to be based on a demand for $5 initiation fees and payment of union dues.

IN PERMITTING FRENCH BUYING OF WAR PLANES

Theme of Testimony in Committee Hearing Disclosed

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Members disclosed today that the senate military committee had received testimony that President Roosevelt overrode specific objections from General Malin Craig, Army Chief of Staff, to permit the French air mission to buy 100 American-made bombing planes of the latest type.

Secretary Morgenthau told the committee, Senator Austin (R-Vt.) said, that the President had overruled Craig's objections after a conference with Morgenthau, the secretary of the navy and Craig.

Craig objected, Austin said, that the French were permitted to purchase planes being produced for army use this might interfere with the army's procurement of the necessary planes in time to meet requirements under the administration's new defense program.

Feared Army's Depletion

Craig also said, Austin reported, that the French plane deal might deprive the Army entirely of the Douglas light bombers.

It was a plane of this type which crashed in California recently, the publicity following the crash revealing the presence of a representative of the French air ministry as a passenger and touching off the committee's investigation.

Austin said testimony before the committee showed that the French had placed an order for 100 planes of this type, ships being developed for later competition for army contracts.

Although Austin said that Morgenthau himself had asked today that his previous testimony about the French plane deals be made public, chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) said the committee could not do this.

In this testimony, given two weeks ago, Morgenthau was asked why the treasury department should have become involved in a military purchase.

At President's Request

Morgenthau discussed the negotiations leading to the granting of special permission to the French mission.

"I thought that I had made it plain," he said in reply to another question, "that we did it at the request of the President."

Pressed on this point, he added, that "the President himself" had taken the action and added: "The President asked us to do it."

Senator Clark (D-Mo) had asked Capt. Sydney M. Kraus, naval officer who accompanied the French mission on its visits to American airplane plants, how the treasury procurement division to which Kraus was attached happened to become involved.

Kraus said he was "a third

Train Collision In South Fatal To Two; 7 Hurt

Quincy, Miss., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Two men were killed and seven were injured, one probably fatally, early today in a head-on collision between a fast Frisco passenger train and a freight train one mile west of here.

The dead: George W. Bowers, about 60 years old, of Birmingham, engineer of the Sunnysland, the passenger train; and Laddie Ivy, porter of the train.

R. L. Dunn, Cordova, Ala., who W. O. Willis, editor of the Amory (Miss.) News said was riding behind the freight engine, was so badly scalded he was not expected to recover.

Willis said the collision occurred on a sharp curve when the Sunnysland, going at high speed, plowed head-on into the freight train which had stopped.

The crew of the freight train, Willis said, jumped to safety.

Among those reported on board the Sunnysland was the Rev. Israel H. Noe, former "fasting dean" of Memphis, who was shaken and bruised. The minister is now rector of the St. James Episcopal parish at Memphis.

The Sunnysland was enroute from Kansas City to Atlanta.

The Gilmore sanitarium at Amory issued a list of seven who were treated for injuries there.

Attendees said the seven probably would remain in the hospital for treatment. Doctors there said they had treated "two or three" others for minor injuries.

Some Items Behind the News in National Capital Today

BY BRUCE CATTON

Dixon Evening Telegraph
Washington Correspondent

Washington, Feb. 16—Uncle Sam's WPA job stands out as one of the biggest undertakings the government ever shouldered.

From its beginning in mid-1935 down to the first of January, 1939, the WPA has cost a grand total of $6,854,545.463.

Of this, cities, counties and states made a direct contribution of $1,034,546,000. The balance was contributed from the federal treasury, and includes approximately $184,750,000 spent on the National Youth Administration— which, while not technically a branch of WPA, is supported from WPA funds.

Wages accounted for $5,105,402,000. Administrative expense came to $231,343,000. The balance of $1,517,800,463 went for materials and equipment, one billion of which came from localities.

So much for the cost. What did the country get out of it?

Fluctuating Figures
According to the best official estimate, approximately 6,780,000 persons held WPA jobs at one time or another. Nobody knows for sure, but WPA authorities estimate that perhaps 600,000 of these stayed on the job from the start; the rest came and went as private employment fluctuated.

The level of WPA employment has swung up and down. When the program began in August, 1935, there were 252,000 workers. By the end of November WPA had 2,445,954 people on its rolls. Low point came in September, 1937, with 1,451,112 workers on the rolls, and the high was reached in October, 1938, when—counting

Some 90,000 workers who were paid out of WPA funds but were employed on other federal projects—it touched 3,337,578.

During its lifetime WPA has put through at least 250,000 projects. At any given time there are usually about 40,000 projects under way.

What do these projects include? What has this army of workers turned out in the way of finished products?

It is a hard question. In the first place, WPA is now in the process of making a tabulation. The figures are not complete, and the best this writer can offer is a set of estimates which he worked out after extended consultation with the WPA statistical division.

In the second place, you can't reduce the results of the white collar projects to black and white.

Wherein Some Statistics

Approximately 14,600 public buildings have been erected. Among them are some 2400 schools, 570 gymnasiums, 1100 stadiums, 70 hospitals, 70 jails, from 800 to 900 courthouses, 140 firehouses, 110 airplane hangars and 80 armories. In addition, improvements or repairs were made on 39,000 other public buildings, and 38,000 acres of ground around public buildings were landscaped.

The WPA men built some 32,000 bridges and 400,000 culverts, 10,000 miles of county roads and 7600 miles of city highways—not counting 1600 miles of roads in parks and cemeteries. They built 9160 miles of sidewalks and paths, 28,000 miles of roadside ditches and 1000 parks. They laid out 100 airports, and made improvements on 160 old ones. They built 1600 athletic fields, 700 playgrounds, 400 swimming pools, 120 golf courses, 5000 tennis courts, upwards of 800 horseshoe courts, 80 skating rinks and some two dozen ski jumps.

They put up 120 outdoor theaters and 80 band shells. They laid 4800 miles of water mains, aqueducts, distribution lines and the like and built 900 storage tanks, reservoirs and cisterns. They erected 400 sewage plants and 300 pumping stations and a million sanitary toilets. In a mosquito control campaign they dug 9000 miles of ditches and drained 400,000 acres.

Miles and Miles

One hundred and forty new docks and piers were built, and eight miles of breakwaters and jetties. Dams—other than power or storage dams—to the number of 30,000 were built as part of a flood control program. Ninety miles of irrigation canals were dug, and improvements were made on 400 miles of existing canals.

They dug 320 tunnels of one sort and another, built 7000 miles of fencing and erected 96 fish hatcheries. They put up some 120

GETTING READY FOR ROYALTY

Seating for Dinner Is Major Problem

BY SIGRID ARNE

AP Feature Service Writer
Washington—There is no head to a dinner-table in Washington's inner social set. The important, diamond-studded spot is right at the middle of a long table.

Here is why. Suppose the head-and-foot custom were in use when the King and Queen of England visit here next spring. At the White House dinner that will be given for them the President would sit at the head with the Queen on his right. And where would the King of England and Emperor of India be found? Why down at the foot of the table on Mrs. Roosevelt's right. And heaven forbid that a King be sunk down among the salt-and-peppers.

So Washington's social arbiters say that a host and hostess should sit facing each other at the center of a long table. That puts the ranking guests (king-this or prince-that) right in the middle of things.

And does that add an extra fillip to the undercover battle raging among the social-ites? They are busy wheeling, wangling and bluffing for invitations to the dinner for the Britishers, but in addition, they are jockeying for positions up near the roses in the silver centerpiece. Half a dozen letters come in each day hinting that Mr. and Mrs. would be able to find time to attend a dinner for George the Sixth and his lady.

Horse-Shoe Table Solves Puzzle
There is another problem to seating dinner guests at the White House. Some 80 to 90 are invited to each of the five official dinners given each season. That is too many people to seat at one long table, and besides nobody can sit with his back to the President. So the White House table is set up like a horse-shoe with the open monuments and historic markers, planted upwards of 12,000,000 trees on 14,000 acres of land in various reforestation projects, made 1900 miles of firebreaks in the forests and laid out 2240 miles of forest and fire trails.

In addition to these new jobs, they made repairs and improvements on existing assets. While they were building those 2400 schools, for instance, they repaired 17,000 old schools. While they were laying out those 700 new playgrounds, they were improving 800 old ones.

But all of this is an admittedly incomplete picture of the actual physical results of the WPA program from its beginning.

end to the big fire-place in the state dining room. That puts the President and Mrs. Roosevelt facing each other in the center of the horse-shoe with the ranking guests alongside.

Before such dinners get off to a start on the consume there must be enough book-keeping done to get the Kingdom of Graustark out of the red.

First Mrs. Roosevelt makes up the guest list with the help of her social secretary, Mrs. James Helm, a Navy widow who knows procedure. Then the list is sent to the State Department where H. C. Spruiks, the ceremonial officer, decides who will sit next to whom. That's a fine problem in social algebra which goes this way:

The president is the head of any party he attends.

The vice president comes next. The others follow in this order: ambassadors, Supreme Court judges, senators, representatives, and then the hoi-poioli which may be just plain-rich people, members of the press, and friends of the president.

Worse Than Jigsaw Puzzle

But suppose there are three ambassadors there. Who sits nearest the President? Why, the ambassador who has been here the longest. That goes for all the other classifications. But it takes a Philadelphia lawyer to look it up. When the State Department finally gets the seating down in proper black-and-white the guest list goes back to Mrs. Roosevelt.

She sends it next to A. B. Tolley, of the White House staff, who works out a large, white cardboard diagram of the table. At each place he cuts a little slit, and into these slits he fits a narrow card bearing the name of a guest. Like playing paper-dolls.

When a name card has been fitted correctly into each slit the diagram is handed to Mrs. Helm who carries it like a platter of pearls to the state dining room about two hours before the dinner. Mrs. Roosevelt usually joins her, and together they see that the place-cards are in their right places according to the Tolley-state department diagram.

There is a last check against mistakes. It is a seating-made-easy scheme for the guests. As each man guest takes off his coat he is handed—in a white envelope bearing the president's seal—a little white card on which is a map of the dinner table and the name of the lady he is to take in. On the map are two small, pencilled crosses to show him the approximate position of his place at the table.

Then it is up to the gentleman to steer himself and his dinner partner to their seats with such nonchalance that the others will

DISTURBED AT NIGHT?

DIURETIC stimulant such as Dr. Pierce's A-nuric is often indicated and usually it is sufficient to relieve minor kidney irregularities. Mrs. Lizzie A. Johnson, 733 Doyle St., Columbus, Ohio, says: "I would feel so tired and worn-out especially in the morning. I used Dr. Pierce's A-nuric Tablets and they helped me wonderfully. My kidneys gave me no more trouble." Buy at drug store.

Vincent Carney of Rochelle, President of Dixon Music Club, Takes Chicago Bride

Of equal interest here and in Rochelle is announcement of the wedding of Miss Mary L. Thometz, daughter of Mrs. Mathilda L. Thometz and the late Dr. Anthony M. Thometz of Chicago, and Vincent Carney of Rochelle, president of the Dixon Music club, which was solemnized at 10 o'clock this morning at Visitation church on Garfield boulevard in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. George F. Murray of 1018 Hennepin avenue, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom's father, were among those attending from out of town.

Following the ceremony, Mr. Carney and his bride left for Mexico on a six week's wedding trip. After they return, they will be at home in Rochelle, where the bridegroom is associated with his father at the Carney and Longenecker clothing store.

Mrs. Carney was graduated from Rosary college, and spent a year at Villa de Fougere, Fribourg, Switzerland, where she majored in French. Since her graduation, she has been associated with the French department of the Chicago public schools.

The bridegroom, an accomplished pianist, is the elder son of the Frank Carneys of Rochelle. He was graduated from Rochelle high school with the class of 1924, and from Notre Dame university, Notre Dame, Ind., in 1929. His father formerly resided in Dixon.

FRESHMAN GIRLS ARE HOSTESSES

Freshman girls of Scout troop No. 10, entertained sophomore girls of Troop No. 1 with a Valentine party Monday evening in the Knights of Columbus hall. Nearly 35 Girl Scouts enjoyed an evening of games, a playlet, and refreshments and were credited with progress on requirements for hostess and troop dramatic badges.

Seven girls appeared in the playlet, "Not Such a Goose," presented under the direction of Miss Leone Ortt, Miss Etola Miller assisted with the games and contests, and Mrs. James Miley gave hostess instructions. Other leaders present were Mrs. Paul Black, Miss Mila Wolkne and Miss Elizabeth Hurst. Miss Marie Kelly, Girl Scout director, and Mrs. Carl Goff were special guests.

BALDWIN AUXILIARY

Members of Baldwin auxiliary, No. 23, Spanish War Veterans, have been invited to the home of their president, Mrs. D. E. Helmick, for a scramble supper at 6 o'clock Saturday evening. A patriotic program will follow the supper, which has been planned in celebration of February birthday anniversaries, including those of four presidents, Lincoln, Washington, Theodore Roosevelt, and McKinley.

CHORUS PRACTICE

Members of the Dixon Woman's club chorus will meet for rehearsal at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

HURRAH! MOM LET ME HAVE TWO PIECES, SHE SAYS PASTRY MADE THE Spry WAY IS SO DIGESTIBLE

Spry GIVES SUCH LIGHT, DELICATE CAKE—SUCH CRISPY FRIED FOODS, TOO

WHAT A PIE! WHAT A PIE! THE TANGIEST LEMON FILLING AND A CRUST THAT MELTS IN YOUR MOUTH

"Spry costs so little to use for all baking and frying."

—says famous home-making expert
"And what a difference you'll see," declares Emily M. Lantz. "You'll find that baking and frying the Spry way means tender, flaky pastry—crisp, tasty fried foods—light, delicate cakes. And how easily they're mixed."

A brand new, grand new EASY recipe for LEMON MERINGUE PIE—try it!

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

1 1/2 cups water
3/4 cups cornstarch
1 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup sugar
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 lemon (grated rind and juice)

Mix 1/2 cup water and cornstarch to thin paste. Combine 1 1/2 cups water and sugar in top of double boiler and bring to boil over direct heat. Add cornstarch paste and cook until mixture begins to thicken; return to double boiler and continue cooking until thick and smooth (15 minutes).
Pour over slightly beaten egg yolks, return to double boiler, and cook 1 minute longer. Add lemon rind and juice and butter and blend well. Cool, stirring occasionally. Pour into baked pie shell.

Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Add sugar gradually (about 1 tablespoon at a time) beating constantly. Add lemon juice. Pipe lightly on lemon filling. Bake in moderately slow oven (325° F.) 15 minutes, or until firm and delicately browned.

BAKED SPRY PIE SHELL

1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup Spry
3 tablespoons cold water (about)

Sift flour and salt together. Add 1/2 of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as corn meal. (Easy as can be with Spry.) Add remaining 1/2 of Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of a navy bean. Sprinkle water, 1 tablespoon at a time, over mixture. With a fork, work lightly together until a dough is formed. Roll dough 1/8-inch thick and prick with fork. Place dough in pie plate and let relax 5 minutes. Pat with ball of dough. Trim pastry 1/2 inch larger than pan and turn back edge. Flute rim. Chill. Bake in very hot oven (450° F.) 15 minutes.

(All measurements in these recipes are level)

(Clip and save this Spry recipe)

1 tablespoon butter
1 baked Spry pie shell
3 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice

THERE'S fresh lemon juice in the meringue as well as filling to give extra zest and flavor. There's Spry in the crust to make it extra tender and flaky. A perfect pie—your family will beg for it often!

Not pastry alone, but cakes, biscuits, cookies, doughnuts, fritters—everything you bake or fry the Spry way is extra delicious—so digestible a child can eat it.

And notice Spry's creaminess. Cooking experts for 281 home-making schools say Spry's so marvelously creamy it mixes like magic. Try Spry today. Save money, get the 3-lb. can.

High School P.-T. A. Observes Founders' Day

History of the P.-T. A. in Dixon and of the national organization was reviewed by Mrs. H. A. White in a Founder's Day talk at yesterday's meeting of the Dixon High school Parent-Teacher association. Mrs. T. J. Miller, Jr., conducted the meeting, which was held in the high school music room.

A special feature of the program was a playlet, "A 50-50 Proposition," presented by four members of the high school dramatic club.

After the meeting, refreshments prepared by freshman girls under the direction of Miss Cieta White, were served in the home economics room. Mrs. O. L. Gearhart and Mrs. Miller presided at the refreshment table.

Mrs. Charles Bush, senior mother, was chairman of the committee. Assisting her were Mrs. H. A. White, Miss Katherine Wright, Miss Margaret Kling and Walter McColley.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 17, when Mrs. Gearhart, junior mother, is to have charge of the program. A physical education demonstration, and exhibits by the art and manual training departments are planned.

Shoe Company Employes Fete Miss Campbell

First of the pre-nuptial parties planned for Miss Maxine Campbell, who is soon to become the bride of James Hey, was a dinner party arranged last evening by the bride-elect's co-workers in the office of the Brown Shoe company. Dinner reservations were made for 18 at the Rainbow Inn, where the honoree was presented with a walnut occasional table for her new home.

Complimenting the bride-to-be last evening were Mrs. Howard Gerber, Mrs. Marvin Dowling, and the Misses Marian Andrews, Phyllis Andrews, Jean Ford, Anna Marie Crabtree, Elaine Nass, Helen Miller, Anna Mae Siefkin, Janice Brant, Genevieve Flanagan, Lorella May, Gula Smith, Ruby Grimes, Frances Crawford, Mary Lucille James, and Jane Tofte.

POSTPONE CLASS PLAY AT COMPTON

The play, "Solo Flight," which the junior class of Compton high school was to have presented Friday evening at the high school building, has been postponed indefinitely, due to illness of three members of the cast. A new date will be announced later.

The first census was taken in the United States in 1790 and was conducted by a group of 700 marshals at an expense of about $45,000.

WASHINGTON BALL IS POSTPONED

Members of Dixon Commandery No. 21, Knights Templar, announce that a crowded calendar of activities is making it necessary for indefinite postponement and perhaps cancellation of their annual Washington ball, which had been scheduled for Wednesday evening, Feb. 22. If held later, the affair probably will be in the form of a spring dance.

Attention of the Commandery just now is concentrated on preparations for inspection March 14 by the eminent grand sword bearer of the Grand Commandery, Andrew Martin Uhl of Belleville.

Mrs. Goeke and Mrs. Ferguson Are Hostesses

Mrs. O. F. Goeke and Mrs. R. M. Ferguson were receiving luncheon guests yesterday at the Goeke home on North Dixon avenue. Covers for 20 were indicated at flower-trimmed tables seating four.

After the luncheon, contract bridge hands were cut and dealt for five foursomes. When scores were compared at the close of play, Mrs. Leo Dixon, Mrs. A. H. Feger, and Mrs. C. G. Popma were presented with prizes.

Today, Mrs. Goeke and Mrs. Ferguson were hosting at a similar party at Mrs. Goeke's home. Their guest list today included 16 friends.

READING CIRCLE

Mrs. Edward Brauer entertained 12 members of the Palmyra Teacher's Reading circle last evening at the Fred Brauer home on rural route 1. Miss Marguerite Richardson and Mrs. Burgard gave reports from the book, "Learning the Three R's."

A social hour and refreshments followed the study period.

EVENING CLUB

Mrs. Charles Roundy, 613 Ottawa avenue, was hostess to her contract bridge club of 12 last evening. Three tables were set up for the card games, with Mrs. Joe Miller and Mrs. Orville Smith receiving prizes for their efforts. Mrs. Smith will entertain in two weeks.

Practical Club Hears Paper On Rogers Memorial

Dedication of the Will Rogers Memorial in Claremore, Okla., was described for members of the Practical club Tuesday afternoon in a paper read by Mrs. Harry Stephan. Mrs. H. D. Bills was hostess, entertaining 16 members of her Crawford avenue home.

After a brief sketch of Rogers' life, Mrs. Stephan described the dedication ceremonies, which were held at Claremore, Nov. 4, 1938. State and national dignitaries, Mrs. Stephan said, gathered for the occasion.

The memorial, a $200,000 ranch house-style structure, erected in honor of Oklahoma's favorite son, contains a slightly larger than life-size statue of the humorist, sculptured by Jo Davidson. The statue was unveiled by Rogers' daughter, Mary.

The simple ceremony took place

Poets' Corner

A THOUGHT

Did a cloud appear in the lovely blue,
And spoil a well planned day for you?
For someone the sun was shining too bright
And that very same cloud made made things just right.

Just 'cause things didn't work your way
Will you put this down as a wasted day?
For someone, this day was, oh! so right
And for this same day, they are thankful tonight.

So if things aren't just the same as your dreams
If something has happened to all your schemes,
Just remember that YOUR brightest day
For someone else, may be the other way.

Therefore if life seems all in vain
Remember! The sun shines after the rain.
What seems to you to be awfully blue
May to someone's life, lend a brighter hue.

Americanism is an Unfailing Love of Country; Loyalty to its institutions and ideals; Eagerness to defend it against all enemies; Undivided Allegiance to the Flag; and a desire to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and posterity.

MR. BORAH NEEDED NOW

America's senator-at-large, Borah of Idaho, is to be congratulated upon his progress against an attack of grip or threatened pneumonia.

The country needs Mr. Borah; likewise it needs his old contemporary, Hiram Johnson of California.

In matters of internal policies neither Mr. Borah nor Mr. Johnson have stood particularly well with party regulars, having displayed irritating independence when regularity was demanded.

But each has served well enough on a single issue to merit forgiveness for purported shortcomings.

Back in the days when the league of nations fight was on, both Borah and Johnson teamed up as leaders of that little group of willful men who defied the President and popular opinion—and kept us out of Europe's squabbles.

At every street corner, in those days, knots of men gathered to discuss the league of nations, and on the street there was a preponderance of opinion in the league's favor. Why not? We had just been through a war and we wanted no more of it. The league was going to end war forever. We had whipped the junkers, so why not clinch the victory by a league of nations—collective security?

The result of this sentiment was that Borah and Johnson, most fiery and spectacular of the "willful men," were hated thoroughly by a mighty section of the public.

But they stuck to their guns. The Senate refused to ratify the Treaty of Versailles, and subsequently refused to go into the world court, which was a side-door to the league.

Now, seeing that the league was only a pious fraud, and that not a single power ever has kept the covenant as pledged, and that in spite of the league another war is threatened, the public is glad we kept out.

More power to Borah and Johnson in their fight to maintain our nation's political independence!

THE AMERICAN DICTATOR

President Roosevelt apparently has not had enough of hammering at a stone wall. On the heels of his defeat in the Senate over the Virginia federal judgeship, he has ignored the recommendations of his old pal, Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania, and selected for another judgeship a lawyer whom Guffey did not mention in his recommendation. Guffey, it is reported, was not aroused by the President's action.

In general practice it is the President's duty to appoint federal judges, subject to the advice and consent of the Senate. In case of close team work, the President would consider the appointment of a judge from the standpoint of national welfare, and the Senate, looking more or less through the eyes of the two senators from the appointee's home state, would ratify the appointment or reject it. It might be supposed that a jurist prominent enough to be considered for a federal post would be more or less under the eye of the senators from his state; they might know more about him than the President would.

In practice many Presidents have taken a state's two senators into their confidence when considering an appointment, asking for lists of suitable men. Senators, mindful of the welfare of their state, and also with an eye to paying political debts, have been prone to reach an agreement with the President. In such cases, ratification has been only a formality.

The much-discussed "senatorial courtesy" amounts to this: In case an appointee is "personally obnoxious" to a senator, he expects other senators to back him in his opposition, and they generally do. They take this attitude: "If the senator from Virginia doesn't want him, why should we other senators insist upon him? After all, he knows him better than we do."

By the way—it was senatorial courtesy that got Hugo (Ku Klux) Black into the Supreme Court.

OUR LITERARY CONVICTS

Inmates of federal prisons read from five to 10 times as many books as people who patronize public libraries.

About 75 per cent of all inmates of federal prisons and reformatories read an average of 70 books each last year, the Federal Bureau of Prisons has found.

At Alcatraz, where the inmates are presumably all four-minute eggs, 98 per cent of them averaged 102 books apiece. At least a third of the books drawn in federal prisons are non-fiction, suggesting not merely the time-killing incident to a population which after all isn't going anywhere, but ambition.

What an improvement this is over the days when prisoners were lockedstep from dungeon to rock-pile and back again day after day, year after year!

How many of these men will have learned from the real world the things they need to turn them to useful lives. It would be useless to exaggerate. Probably most of them read from sheer boredom. But the high percentage of non-fiction subjects suggests that many are trying to prepare themselves to do better on their second trial.

No matter how small the percentage of men set on the right track by prison libraries, the result is worth more than the costs.

LOW MORTALITY FROM DISEASE

Pneumonia, tuberculosis, diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough, typhoid fever, measles and infantile paralysis took only 8,712 lives in Illinois last year as compared with 10,143 in 1937, and 14,442 in 1928, according to a report from the state health department. This represents a saving of 1,431 lives in comparison with the experience of 1937, and upwards of 5,700 compared with 1928.

We are in the dark as to whether the lower mortality was due to lack of epidemics, or to mildness of these diseases in 1938, or whether it was due to improved technique on the part of the medical profession.

It is worth while to note that while mortality rates from these diseases were dropping, the medical profession was being charged with inadequate performance of its duties; with operating a trust and with charging too much for its services. It has been made the target of socialistic competition by the government, and certain men of the profession have been indicted.

DANGEROUS SERVICE

THE CHARACTERS

Peter Mallone: Adventurous newspaper correspondent.
Petronella: His young sister.
Tony Lance: British agent, the man Petrel loves.

Yesterday, Petrel meets Tony in Cairo. He is surprised to learn she is famous.

Chapter 26

'LOVE YOU'

Tony's regard traveled from her short, attractive hair, over her figure, which was slight and tense in her neat suit, down to pretty ankles, and smat American traveling shoes.

"You're attractive, but still alone. I wonder why?" She would not answer.

"To make it easy, let me tell you something, Petrel. I love you. I always have. You were a child when I knew it first. She raised her eyes. She was amazed. He had confessed it so simply. It was like hearing an echo of her own imagination. This was what she had known would happen.

She dared not be glad. It could not be as simple as it sounded. Tony went on. I thought then, as I still do, that the most unfortunate thing that could happen to you would be to love me in return. I do not believe women, as a whole, love long, or deeply. I told myself you would meet someone else, be happier than I could have made you. You see I couldn't offer you any garden, then, with a promise to help you plant it, any more than I can today, Petrel. It is only the change in you—a mistake, mind you, that makes me tell you now. And the fact that you haven't met anyone else. That wasn't the only reason I cleared out as I did, of course. I'm selfish. I wanted my freedom. I did not want a home, or to be tied to a wife. Can you understand? Can you see what a jam you've put me into now? You still belong, by rights, to that English garden. But something has happened to you. I'm not sure you would be content there, for long."

Outside the hotel, there was a great deal of noise. They heard the distant staccato of firing. "I wonder, too, Martin Rowdon warned me. He said, 'Europe gets you.' Perhaps he was right," Tony said. "I'm glad you explained, Tony, and that you told me. Will you say it again. I didn't believe you the first time."

Her lips were tremulous as she asked: "I love you." He caught her hands tightly. "We must be mad," she said, looking into his eyes. "I've met you four times in five years."

"I love you," he repeated. "It doesn't necessarily mean there is anything to be done about it, but I want you to know."

She laughed. "That was very good. Well, how do you feel? It is inconvenient, isn't it? You admit that?"

Her answer was perplexed, as well as truthful. "All this time, for seven years, I've believed I loved you. I've loved you just the way you've told me, for your staying away. They didn't seem sufficiently good reasons. But now—"

"I love you," he repeated. "It doesn't necessarily mean there is anything to be done about it, but I want you to know."

Her answer was perplexed, as well as truthful. "All this time, for seven years, I've believed I loved you. I've loved you just the way you've told me, for your staying away. They didn't seem sufficiently good reasons. But now—"

She was thinking of Cairo, rioting under the hot sun. Did she feel the need of him strongly enough to face spending her life in cities like this—wherever there was trouble?

"You haven't answered the question."

"Now that you are sitting here with me—I don't know," she told him helplessly. She sought desperately for words. "I feel numb, dead. Do you think we can possibly just have imagined it, Tony? Or are we really akin in mind and spirit, tied in some odd way? Do you think perhaps, we were meant to be brother and sister? Is there any physical attraction?"

"Musical Comedy Stuff!" He smiled. There must be. We have three, or perhaps four days to find out. I'm waiting for orders. A great deal depends on them. I may be sent almost anywhere. Then, you'd have to follow me. You'd have to go to England. Then I shall ask you to come home, too. It will give you a chance to discover what you really feel. But, of course, if I am frank, there is no doubt in my mind at all. I tell you you will love me, some day, however inconvenient I am. But, of course, given only three days, I shrug my shoulders. What you really want will be long enough for me to convince you."

Petronella sat upright, her clear laughing eyes accused him. "Tony, you're a beast! You've been cocksure of me all the time. Sure I'd wait, sure I'd change my person-al-ity to suit you, sure I'd come when you whistled. Even now, I don't trust you not to be gone again, without me. If those orders oh, I'm angry, and rebellious, and mad—and angry!" she finished helplessly.

He laid a hand over hers. "I know, I don't realize yet, that I'm on the same string. You have been sure I'd come to heel in time, lay my freedom at your feet, come home to you. Admit it, it's true. We can neither of us get away."

"I did feel that. But, anyway, I must get rid of you now, I must think!"

They would part till tea time, he promised. He would get her from her room. He wanted to dine with her and with Peter tonight. He must make his peace with her brother.

"As regards, we'll dance. I've never danced with you, Petrel. I've never danced with any tunes, any music. Only grim reality."

"We'll turn on the musical comedy stuff at last, love each other, men and girls who love each other. We'll picnic in the desert, drive beside the Nile, see the pyramids by moonlight. We'll telephone each other, write crazy notes. I shall give you foolish presents. I shall have quarrels, and reconciliations, and drink champagne, and invent our own toasts. Do you like the program?"

"I love you," he repeated. "It doesn't necessarily mean there is anything to be done about it, but I want you to know."

She laughed. "That was very good. Well, how do you feel? It is inconvenient, isn't it? You admit that?"

In Hollywood

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Hollywood—Short takes: Simple truth about the shelving of the Hedy Lamarr picture is that it looked pretty bad as far as they'd gone, and Metro couldn't take a chance with its everpublicized glamorist on her first film for her home studio. "I Take This Woman" was started without a finisher script and the thread of the story was mislaid by the large crew of writers who struggled with it. Other troubles came with a change of directors. Love and henceforth belonged together, filled her with misgiving as well as delight. It was so swift an arrangement that she could not believe it could be stable. Half an hour ago she had belonged to herself. She was Petronella Mallone. She did as her own conscience prompted; obeyed her own laws. Now, she stood face to face with the possibility of abandoning that will of marriage within a week, of leaving Peter, leaving Cairo. Of going with Tony Lance, who, in so many ways was unknown, a stranger. She was sure of one thing about him, and it frightened her. He would calmly expect to rule her.

"I'm strong willed, too; if I don't agree with him there will be a clash. I must know whether he is worth following. Suppose his personality is attractive, but his ideas are crooked?" she wondered. "Don't look so frightened, Petrel," he said gently.

At first—

"You're not afraid of that. You're afraid of me. You have developed a keen mind of your own, that looks for snags. You don't trust me. You will." Their eyes met.

"That is what I was doing," she admitted. "I do hope you're right, Tony."

Why did you think you knew people, and loved them, when you knew nothing, and they were strangers, wondered Petronella? She was alone in her room. She felt crushed and bewildered. Fate had granted her her greatest wish. She was afraid to take it. Part of her mind said, "You're a coward."

A second part retorted, "You would be a fool if you did not think twice. Instinct is not enough."

She stood at the window. This room was high. She looked out on the scorching streets, and at the dark ugliness of a mob, one of those inevitable crowds being moved slowly from the main thoroughfare, and divided into the narrow channels of small streets. From another part of the town a lorry full of Egyptian soldiers, dressed in khaki, steel helmets, were driven, swaying, at speed, obviously in answer to some alarm.

She thought, "Even as he told me he loved me, they were firing. She supposed that was why she felt so little joy. Tony's life resembled Peter's. She knew so well what that meant. Standing by, watching history write itself in unhappy countries; cities under martial law; revolution; strikes; bitterness; human suffering. War."

Tomorrow: Dinner with Peter.

Adolf Hitler howled that if Hollywood made movies attacking Germany's anti-Semitic activities, he would retaliate by making anti-Semitic pictures. Voiced as a threat, this was really a promise. Next day it was revealed that the Nazi government had completed a propaganda film, "Jews Without a Mask."

Geologists are making tests, for oil, on the Bob Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck ranches! "Hound of the Baskervilles" used six different dogs in the long shots during a month of production before the title role was definitely cast. The hound to be used in closeups is Von, a Great Dane.

Our Gang Going
Removal of Tyrone Power, by his studio, from a radio program has reopened the breach between broadcasting and movies, and has renewed the protests of theater owners against film-star appearances on the ether. Zanuck evidently considered that Power's popularity was being damaged to the extent of $2000 a week by broadcasting. At least, that's what 20th-Fox must pay for keeping him off the air. Power received $4000 a week from the program, half of which he had to pay to the studio. The studio, in turn, paid Power $2000 a week as a screen actor, so 20th-Fox was breaking even.

The oldest of all movie series will be discontinued in a few weeks—the "Our Gang" comedies, which have been in production 17 years. . . . Metro now plans some horror pictures, and under Tod Browning, who directed Lon Chaney, Henry Hull is being groomed as the new bogey-man.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. This matter has been studied by a Spanish psychologist, Dr. Emilio Mira and the results, presented to an American meeting of scientists, show that twice as many women as men passionately desire to punish a rival—especially one who has intruded into their love affairs. The way they like best to do it is to humiliate the rival in some way in public. This gives them one grand and glorious feeling.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes, and it is one of the best tests of a well-balanced temperament. The feeling of being right is one of the strongest props one can have to uphold his good opinion of himself when others are against him. The moment he loses this good opinion of himself—well, then he begins to feel he may be wrong after all. But as long as he is so sure he is right that he feels right about himself he doesn't give much of a hoot whether school keeps or not.

20 PRESENT PLAY
The dramatic club of Rochelle township high school will present their 20th play on Friday evening Feb. 17, in the high school auditorium.

The cast, under the direction of Miss Vera Coultas, is busy on one of the latest comedies the club has ever produced.

New scenery has been made especially for the production and promises to add beauty to the background.

The play centers around the Cragwells, with aristocracy, pride, artistic temperaments and empty pocketbooks. If you owed an irate taxi driver a day's wages, you would find it in the Cragwells.

ACCEPTS POSITION

FANFARE

By DON DANIELSON

The official American League motion picture, "First Century of Baseball," will be shown in Dixon early in May through efforts made by the sports department of The Telegraph. This four reel sound film runs about 45 minutes and traces baseball from its birth in 1839 to the present date. The local premier will be at the Dixon Elks club on the night of May 9 and the public will be welcome.

In the activities of the Ladies' afternoon league at the Dixon Recreation bowling alley yesterday Irene Kiefer had high series with games of 145-206-132 for 503. Minette Meinke was second with 139-195-138 for 473. Other good games were those of Montgomery, 132; Hoff, 164; Bend, 171 and Corso, 166.

Kid Harms and Linto Guerrieri are among the featured boxers on the card of the Gyro club's bouts at Sterling tonight. In all, seven all-star bouts await the fight fans with John Purcell, Peoria Golden Gloves champ, Ray Doll, former Rock Falls heavy and Theron McClain, Milwaukee fighter, among the attractions.

To the victor goes the crown—and the malts. The Knacks cage team put on poundage last night at the expense of Carl Galos of the Candy Box as an award for winning the Industrial League crown.

Coach Welty's quintet invaded Lee Center's court Tuesday night to run up an overwhelming score over the hosts, 34 to 15. From the first minute of play Lee Center was poor on offense and Amboy clicked to take an early lead. In the fourth period the winners netted 11 points. Dixon's interest in Amboy is strengthened with the pairings of the regional tournament which schedules Dixon to meet Amboy in the locals' first game.

With Prophetstown listed to appear in the Dixon regional basketball tournament which starts here on March 1, the results of that community's cage doings gets more attention. On Tuesday night the Prophets won a doubleheader from Tampico when the heavyweights won, 42 to 30 and the light-weights came through with a 50 to 10 score.

In the Classic League activities at the Dixon Recreation bowling alleys last night Larry Poole of the Buick-Pontiac team had series with 193-235-182 for 610. Forrest Shavager of Williams had 189-211-209 for 609. Other fine games included Becker, 200; Worley, 215; Daschbach, 235; Schroeder, 236 and Beier, 212.

At West Brooklyn last night the hometown team ended its regular cage season in a blaze of glory when the players turned back Lee, 20 to 17 in a close game. A. Michel led the winners with a total of 11 points from three field goals and five charity tosses. Parker, Lee forward, made seven points, two buckets and three free throws. The score was knotted at the end of the third quarter at 14-14 before West Brooklyn came back to score six points and hold the invaders to three. Box score will be found elsewhere on this page today.

In the last minutes of the Knacks-I. N. U. game last night the red-shirts were left with only four players on the floor to carry on for the power company when Kerley was sent out of the game on an infraction which also took out Boyd of the Knacks.

Outstanding Athletes Entered In Illinois Relay Carnival Saturday

Champaign, Feb. 16.—A field of 453 athletes, including the mid-west's outstanding performers, and carrying the colors of 36 universities and colleges will compete Saturday in the 16th annual Illinois relay carnival, the nation's largest indoor track event. The program is as follows: 7:30 p. m.—Main meet, including university relays and finals in special events. 1 p. m.—College relays, all-around championship, and preliminaries in special events. The carnival, under the direction of L. T. Johnson, track coach, will be held in the armory, which provides seats for 4,300. Accommodations will be available for all comers, even at the last minute.

Michigan Leads in Entries
Michigan, Big Ten champion, leads with 37 entries; Notre Dame has 36, Northwestern, 26; Indiana, 25; Marquette, 23; Michigan State, 22; Purdue and Missouri, 21, and Chicago and Kansas State, 20; Illinois, 17; Ohio State, 12, and Minnesota 9.

Other teams are Armour, Bradley, Butler, De Pauw, Drake, Eastern Illinois Teachers (Charleston), Grinnell, Indiana State Teachers (Terre Haute), Iowa State Teachers (Cedar Falls), Kansas, Kansas State Teachers (Pittsburg), Loyola, Michigan Normal (Ypsilanti), Monmouth, North Central, St. Louis, Southern Missouri Teachers (Cape Girardeau), Southern Illinois Normal (Carbondale), Toledo, Washington U., Wayne, Wisconsin and Western Michigan Teachers (Kalamazoo).

Stars Entered
Stars entered include Bill Watson, shot put and broad jump champion, Elmer Gedeon, high hurdles champion, Wes Allen, high jumper, and Ralph Schwarzkopf, distance runner, Michigan; Harley Howells, 440, and Bob Lewis, sprinters, Ohio State; Milt Padway, pole vault champion, and Walter Mehl, two-mile champion, Wisconsin; Mel Trutt, distance star, Indiana; John Davenport, 100-yard dash champion, Chicago; Art Bodeau, half-mile, and Steve Gutting, hurdler, Purdue, and Bob Diefenthal, high jumper, Illinois. Greg Rice, Milrose two-mile winner, John Dean, pole vaulter, and Bill Paymonville and Ed Beinor, shot put, Notre Dame; Ed Burke, national indoor high jump record holder, Marquette; Wilbur Greer, sprinter, Michigan State; John Munksi, Big Six mile and two-mile champion, Missouri; Elmer Hackney, national collegiate shot put champion, Kansas State, and Bill Southworth, miler, Butler.

Events are university and college mile, two-mile and medley relays, university four-man mile team race, and special 320-yard shuttle hurdles relay. Special events are 75- and 300-yard dash, 75-yard high and low hurdles, 1000-yard and 1500-meter runs, high and broad jump, pole vault, shot put and all-around championship.

Wisconsin Entries
A last minute entry by the University of Wisconsin increased the already formidable field in the 1500-meter run. Coach Tom Jones entered Walter Mehl, national collegiate two-mile champion, Milton Padway, Big Ten pole vault champion and Ed Smith, hurdler.

In the 1500-meter Mehl will encounter Greg Rice of Notre Dame, whom he defeated in the national collegiate last year; John Munksi of Missouri, Art Bodeau of Purdue, Ralph Schwarzkopf of Michigan and other star distance men, making this event more than ever the red letter race of the special events.

In a wild display of basketball, gymnastics and what-have-you, the Dixon Industrial Basketball League struck a dead-end last night and abruptly called quits on the whole thing. With the coming of the high school tournaments and the Mount Morris rounds for independent teams, too many dates began to conflict and it was decided to call off the remaining games in the local league.

In the final double feature bill last night the Knacks, champions of the league, came very near soiling their record of 14 straight wins when the I. N. U. bowed down but only after a struggle. The Knacks nosed out a 28 to 27 triumph. It has been said so often that it is trite that a game was a "rough and tumble affair"—however, of the Knacks-I. N. U. game last night those words fit like a 1939 bathing suit.

Twenty-five fouls were called in the tilt and double fouls were called twice. The whole affair was a teeter-totter shindig with first the Knacks leading and then the red-shirts with the game knotted up nine times.

The first period ended 8 to 6 with the Knacks leading on field goals by Boyd, Bellows and Gilbert and free throws by Potts. In that same period Earl and Red Flanagan and Rusk each sank buckets for the gas, light and power lads.

Two-Point Margin
At the half the I. N. U. trailed by the same two-point margin and the end of the third quarter found the game knotted at 21-all. In the final stanza, the I. N. U. made six points—all on free throws while the Knacks made three buckets and one charity toss.

Earl Flanagan was high-point man of the game with 13 points. Boyd of the champions made 11 tallies. It was the 14th straight victory with no defeats for the champs; eight of those tilts in the league. All season the blue and gold of the Knacks has flashed through contests in a form which has puzzled opponents.

BORDENS WIN
In the second game of the evening the Bordens company defeated the Reynolds team, 26 to 10, to move into a second place tie in the finals standings with the I. N. U. team. Bordens had very little trouble in mowing down the wiremen as Bishop totaled 15 of the winners' points. Eddie Grove of Reynolds chalked up six of the ten points for the losers.

120 pounds—H. O'Rourke, Dixon, defeated A. Burridge, Rochelle.

In three exhibition bouts between Dixon lads J. Hannon and Robert, his brother fought to a draw. Thomas Love scored a technical over J. Wallin and F. Spinden and B. Charland drew.

All bouts were three rounds of two minutes each. Cal Tyler, James Bales of Dixon and T. J. Conley of Rochelle were the judges. Billy Davis the referee and John Green the announcer.

DI MAGGIO PLANS TO REALLY TRAIN
FOR 1939 SEASON

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Limited to a week and a half of actual training his first three years in the majors, jolting Joe DiMaggio, the Yankees' outfield star, plans really to get in shape for the opening of the 1939 season.

DiMaggio will leave for the St. Petersburg, Fla., camp of the world's champions March 1, in time to arrive for the opening of training four days later.

Because he expects to be in excellent shape for the opening game, DiMaggio predicted "this is going to be my big year." "Do you know that in three spring training camps that I haven't had over one and a half weeks of actual training?" DiMaggio asked.

"The first year, I had my foot burned and I was thrown out of training. The second year, I had my tonsils removed, and last year it was my own fault." (He held out until after the season was underway).

DiMaggio said he was going after the humble baseball, and not homers this season. He denied and seemed annoyed at reports here he would shortly sign a contract calling for $26,000. He reportedly received $25,000 last season.

Spotlight on Patty
Berg in Semi-Finals
Of Florida Tourney

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP)—The spotlight was on red-haired Patty Berg, national women's golf champion, today as play in the Everglades mixed foursome tournament reached the semi-finals.

The Minneapolis miss' recovery yesterday played a big part in the one up victory which she and Joseph Madden of Omaha, Neb., scored over Ernestine Schiell of Chicago and Dan Cravens of Franklin, Ind.

Round of four pairings sent them against Jane Cochran and John Cushman, both of Greenville, S. C.

In the other semi-finals, Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas, and Paul Cushman of Greenville matched strokes with Mrs. William Hockenjos of Lake Hopatcong, N. J., and Walter Burkemo of Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Newson and Barnes are Original About Holdout

St. Louis, Feb. 16.—(AP)—

Just to be original on this salary business, holdout Buck Newson and President Don Barnes of the St. Louis Browns exchanged belated valentines—but the whole affair was right back in Buck's lap today.

Said the Browns' star pitcher in a telegram: "To get down to salary facts, will you be my valentine?" Without reading between the lines, Barnes interpreted it as meaning Newson still was demanding $22,500 for 1939, and was wondering if the club president's resistance had softened.

Replied Barnes, getting into the proper spirit: "Your name on the dotted line will make a nifty valentine."

The Browns are reported to be offering their ace right-hander $15,000, a boost of $2,500.

It has been estimated that of the world's 3,000,000 lepers, 2 per cent are confined in leprosariums.

PRESIDENT WILL LEAVE THIS EVE FOR OCEAN TRIP

To Witness Naval Maneuvers From Deck of U. S. Destroyer

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt cleared up pressing government business today so he can spend the next two weeks on a man-of-war in the Caribbean.

Leaving behind a balky Congress, he will depart late tonight by special train for Key West, Fla., where he will board the 9,050-ton cruiser Houston Saturday to witness part of the fleet maneuvers.

The voyage was planned several weeks ago with a double purpose—to give the naval-minded president a glimpse of the greatest armada ever to assemble in the Atlantic for mimic battle and an opportunity to rest from congressional problems.

His physician, Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, said the trip also would help the president rid himself completely of a week-old attack of grippe.

World attention has been focused on the fleet maneuvers, designed to test the Atlantic defenses of the Panama Canal. A total of 140 ships, 600 planes and upwards of 55,000 officers and men are taking part.

Problems for Congress
Roosevelt, during his periods of relaxation on the sunny deck of the Houston, will have a chance to ponder contentions by some Democrats that further cooperation should be shown between the White House and party members in Congress. Other problems he is leaving with Congress are:

1. His request for restoration of the $150,000,000 which Congress cut from his proposal for $875,000,000 to run WPA until July 1.

2. A controversy over presidential nominations which some Democrats see as a continuation of White House efforts to consolidate New Deal strength for 1940.

3. Efforts to revive a government reorganization bill, stripped of several of the controversial items which helped shelve it last session.

4. Legislation in the formative stage to help the financially embarrassed railroads.

5. What to do with the farm and labor relations acts. The president has made no suggestions for amending these, although revisions have been proposed in several quarters.

6. Proposals to reorganize the communications commission, which he believes should have a more definite policy of administration.

"FED UP" WITH COLD
Chicago, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Two 14-year-old Milwaukee boys who told police they were "fed up" with cold weather and were on their way to Florida and sunshine, had their contemplated southern trip halted here this morning.

Police found the boys, Lester Presser and Willis Stevens at the Union bus depot and sent them to the juvenile home. Milwaukee police were asked to notify their parents.

The youths, who said they hitch hiked here, said they stopped at the bus depot to "warm up" before resuming their journey.

SPEAKER CROSS NAMES BODY TO PROBE EXPENSE

House Committee Headed by Rep. Searle of Rock Island

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 16.—(AP)—A severe Republican critic of the Horner administration, Rep. Clinton Searle of Rock Island, held appointment today as chairman of the special committee created by the Illinois House to investigate Democratic State payrolls.

Speaker Hugh W. Cross chose Searle to head the Republican-sponsored inquiry and named four other GOP legislators and two Democrats to aid him. Cross expressed the hope the committee would lose no time in getting to work.

The committee was authorized earlier this week when the House adopted—by a single vote majority—the Branson resolution ordering an examination of the payroll and operation of every department and agency of the Democratic administration during the last four years.

Republicans named to the committee besides Searle are Reps. S. O. Dale, Fairfield; David I. Swanson, Chicago; Frederick W. Remick, Buda, and John A. Bingham, Galena. The Democratic appointees are Reps. Frank Ryan of Chicago, Dean of the House, and W. O. Edwards of Danville.

An Outspoken Foe
Searle is an attorney starting his sixth term in the assembly, and has been recognized in recent years as one of the most outspoken legislative foes of the Democratic administration. Searle returned to the legislature this year after a two-year absence during which he won nomination for congressman in the Rock Island district but lost to the Democratic incumbent, Congressman Chester Thompson, in the 1936 election.

With both Houses in recess until Tuesday, it was expected the Searle committee would have its first meeting next week. Majority Leader R. J. Branson of Centralia, sponsor of the investigation, urged a prompt start of hearings. Some legislators believed the hearings would begin during the two week legislative recess now tentatively fixed for Feb. 22 to March 7.

Cited Highway Division
Speaking for the Branson resolution in the House this week, Searle declared one state department that "needs investigation" is the highway division under F. Lynden Smith, the Horner organization downstate campaign manager in 1936 and 1938 campaigns. Other branches mentioned specifically for investigation in the Branson resolution were purchases and supplies and finance.

Attacked by Democratic officials as a "political fishing expedition" looking toward the 1940 election campaign, Branson maintained the investigation was aimed at finding means of reducing state appropriations, Branson conferred with Cross on the makeup of the committee late yesterday at Jerseyville, where Cross has been ill at his home.

Branson expressed the opinion that the resolution calling for a joint House-Senate investigation, approved by the upper House in a surprise move Tuesday night, would be "smothered."

The statement drew the assertion from Sen. Nicholas Hubbard, Mt. Pulaski Democrat and sponsor of the proposal, that if the lower chamber kills this proposal the Republicans "will convict themselves of starting an investigation to dig up political propaganda."

Doberman Pinscher Wins at Dog Show

New York, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The first Doberman Pinscher she ever owned today had brought Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge the biggest prize in the American dog world, best in show of the Westminster Kennel club.

This notable addition to Mrs. Dodge's vast kennels at Giralda Farms, Madison, N. J., is Ferry Von Raufelsen, just two years old, and only two weeks off the boat that brought him here from Germany. The extra-large but finely proportioned Doberman was crowned best of the 3,070 entries in the 63rd annual Westminster exhibition at Madison Square Garden last night.

Pirates to Play Purdue In Exhibition Game

LaFayette, Ind., Feb. 16.—(AP)—An exhibition game with the Pittsburgh Pirates here and a southern trip are on Purdue University's baseball schedule.

The schedule as announced by Athletic Director Noble E. Kizer includes:

April 3, 4, 5—At Louisiana Tech; 6—At Mississippi college; 7, 8—At Alabama; 15—Pittsburgh Pirates; 17-18—At Iowa; 21-22—Chicago; 28, 29—Western Illinois Tech; May 1, 2, 3—Louisiana Tech; 12, 13—At Ohio State; 19, 20—At Illinois; 26, 27—Michigan.

Coffeepots are placed on the graves of Arabian chiefs in Palestine and Syria, to indicate the historical character of the departed chief.

Serious Rift In Democrats' Ranks Is Seen

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's newest cabinet members—Harry L. Hopkins and Frank Murphy—were reported by usually well-informed persons today to be working for harmony between the White House and dissident Democratic senators.

Hopkins and Murphy, it was said, are concerned lest differences in Democratic ranks bring a Republican victory in 1940.

Because Hopkins is a close White House adviser and also is friendly with many opposition senators, some politicians expressed belief he might go far toward finding a common meeting ground for divergent party factions.

Murphy's first effort toward party harmony, authoritative reports said, may be a recommendation that the chief executive appoint Harold M. Stephens of Utah to succeed the retired Justice Brandeis on the Supreme Court.

Stephens now is a member of the Federal Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. Several western senators have been urging a man from their section be named.

The party differences were emphasized today when three western senators disclosed they would make no recommendations for the high court appointment.

"Why make any?" asked Senator Clark (D-Mo.). "The president never has paid any attention to recommendations."

Clark's colleague, Senator Truman (D-Mo.), and Senator Burke (D-Neb.), expressed similar opinions.

Various presidential appointments this winter have served to widen the rift between the White House and anti-administration senators. Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), a New Deal supporter, declared today there was a serious breach in Democratic ranks.

"People can commit suicide if they want to," he said, "and I think that is what the Democrats are doing."

LINCOLN PLAY, HERE SATURDAY, GOT FOUR STARS

"Prologue to Glory" Acclaimed in Chicago and New York

Fannie Ellen, pretty, petite, brown-eyed actress who plays Ann Rutledge in "Prologue to Glory," is only 19 years old.

So important a role at such an early age puts Fannie Ellen in a class with Cinderella and Shirley Temple as Very-Young-Lady-Courted-by-Fame.

A big role in a big play, however, is nothing new to this talented and attractive girl actress. Fannie Ellen was only 15 when Gummo Marx, fifth of the "four" Marx brothers, saw her in "Broken Dishes" and signed her to a contract that has kept the young actress busy in movies, plays and radio skits ever since.

Fannie Ellen, therefore, brings to the role of Abe Lincoln's first sweetheart not only the youth required by the part—the real-life Ann was 19 when Abe met her—but talent and experience as well.

Fell Into Career
She fell into her first job on the professional stage. In "Broken Dishes," Fannie Ellen made her initial entrance onto a stage balcony. This was reached by a backstage stairway, which Fannie Ellen had to ascend in darkness. On the opening night, the stagehands "misled" the balcony and when the actress opened the door and stepped out, she plunged 12 feet to the stage floor. Although severely injured, she finished the performance.

"Prologue to Glory," with Fannie Ellen as Ann Rutledge and Lyle Hagan as Lincoln, will be presented at the high school auditorium Saturday under the auspices of Dixon Post No. 12, American Legion.

Charles Lum of the cast is completing this season with his thirty-fifth year on the American stage.

Play Given Four Stars
"Prologue to Glory," a Federal Theatre production built around the early manhood of Abe Lincoln, comes to Dixon after a year in New York and Chicago, and with the distinction of being, in the words of Burns Mantle, dean of Manhattan critics, the only play of its season worthy of four stars.

In Chicago, the production was hailed by Cecil Smith of the Chicago Tribune as a play which "holds the attention of its audience all the way through." Other Chicago critics were equally enthusiastic. "Brilliantly acted and staged," wrote Lloyd Lewis of the Daily News. "One of the most entertaining evenings I have ever spent in a theatre," was the verdict of another newspaper.

Charles Lum was already a leading man of wide fame when he co-starred with Ethel Barrymore in "Captain Jink's Daughter," the play that brought America's premiere actress to the attention of the public. For three years, Lum starred in "The Fool" on Broadway. In all, he has appeared in more than a score of important Broadway productions, in addition to playing with stock companies in Columbus, Pittsburgh, New York City, Des Moines, and Indianapolis.

FLEET OPERATOR KILLED
Salem, Ill.—(AP)—J. B. Mosley, 29, operator of a fleet of trucks in the Illinois oil basin, was killed yesterday in the overturning of his automobile six miles east of here. Two other occupants of the car were injured.

VINEGAR REAL ASSET TO GOOD-HOUSEKEEPERS

Essential in Kitchen and All Through the House

Vinegar does not sound like a romantic subject for discussion. In fact, it doesn't even sound interesting.

Yet, good vinegar is an asset to good housekeeping, and it makes a hundred other things taste better. It is a healthful product that the human system requires as a stimulant to the digestive organs, and the vinegar bottle, or jug comes off the shelf for important household uses more often than is realized.

Asked the main uses of vinegar, the average homemaker would say quickly, "pickling and salad dressing," and only a thoughtful inventory would bring out the host of other virtues stored in vinegar.

Gradually the clever cook will recall that vinegar improves the flavor of many meats and fowls, encouraging tenderness at the same time. One to two tablespoons often are used in a pot roast of beef and with a rather dubious stewing chicken.

A small amount of acid in stews made of bony meats will give the family more available calcium. Vinegar will answer the purpose perfectly, lending delicate flavor as well. Vinegar often can be substituted for lemon juice, particularly in gelatin salads.

The old-time butcher always advised washing mutton before roasting with pure vinegar, to improve the flavor. Even fish is improved by the addition of vinegar. One tablespoon of vinegar added to the water in which fish is boiled will make the fish firmer and whiter.

Eliminating Odors

And speaking of fish! Warm soap suds does not always seem to remove all that fishy odor. In washing dishes after a fish dinner, especially greasy cooking utensils, add one teaspoon of vinegar to the water.

Eliminating disagreeable odors in an apartment always is a problem. Try placing a pan of vinegar over a low flame, and the smell of cabbage or fish soon will disappear. Grandmother's way was to wring a cloth from warm vinegar and whip smoke and odors from the room.

Cheese will not mold if wrapped in a cloth dampened with vinegar. In addition to being necessary in furniture polish, in removing discolorations from glassware and vases, vinegar is useful in the laundry, even to preventing hands from chapping when the wash is hung out. Bathe your hands well with vinegar and allow it to dry before hanging out the clothes.

For retaining the colors in calico goods, soak the material in white vinegar before washing. The colors then will remain fast. When a serge dress or suit gets shiny, sponge well with hot white vinegar, and press in the usual way. The shine will disappear and no odor of vinegar will remain.

To remove ink spots and stains, wash the spots in strong white vinegar, then rinse well. A few drops of vinegar added to the boiling water in which an egg is to be poached will prevent the egg from breaking. Hotel chefs use this method to prevent the egg from breaking and to make it look more inviting.

To Make Polish
A combination of vinegar and salt is excellent for cleaning brass.

An excellent furniture polish is made by mixing together equal parts of boiled linseed oil, vinegar and methylated spirits.

Soak tea leaves, moistened with vinegar, in the glass vase that is discolored by flowers. Another method, to clean deep flower vases, is to mix one tablespoon of coarse salt and one gill of vinegar. Pour in the vase and let it stand. Shake well and rinse with clear water.

A vinegar rinse will brighten water bottles and glass pitchers just as it does your hair. In the shampoo, one-half cup of vinegar is added to the final rinsing water, for sheen and cleanliness. Crystal or glass bottles should be washed at intervals with a mixture of one teaspoon salt and three of vinegar. Shake well. Let stand a few minutes and shake again. Rinse with cold water and "shine 'em up."

Salad materials and many raw vegetables are improved by standing in cold water to which a little vinegar has been added. This will destroy all germs or bacilli which may be lurking in the leaves. Some authorities also recommend the addition of a teaspoon of vinegar to the water in which such vegetables as beans or potatoes are boiled. It will speed the cooking process and impart tenderness.

FEBRUARY HOSTESS TREATS

Napoleon Parfait
Three-fourths cup sugar; one-third cup strong coffee; one square chocolate; four egg yolks; one teaspoon vanilla; one and one-half cups heavy cream.

Cook the coffee and sugar together for five minutes and pour slowly over the well-beaten egg yolks. Mix thoroughly with the chocolate melted over hot water. Let cool, add the vanilla, and fold carefully into the cream, which has been beaten almost stiff. Freeze without stirring in automatic refrigerator.

Serve in tall parfait glasses, or slender sherberts, and top with cherries, or a sprinkle of cinnamon.

CHEESE TARTS

Cut fresh bread into 1-2 inch cubes. Dip into a batter made by blending one beaten egg with one tablespoon melted butter. Roll in finely grated dry cheese. Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven 375 degrees until cheese is melted. Serve hot with salads, or cut bread smaller and use as appetizers.

Lemon Sweet Potatoes

Two pounds of sweet potatoes that have been boiled, peeled and pressed through a strainer, six tablespoons each of melted butter and brown sugar, juice of one orange, grated rind of half an orange, juice of half a lemon and grated rind of a lemon. Beat together until light, turn into a well-buttered dish and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour.

Potato Soup

The modern cook is apt to overlook the excellence of a savory potato soup, which can be made with many flavor variations. If no meat stock is available, the addition of diced crisp bacon will give extra nourishment.

This recipe will serve twelve, meaning that it may provide a luncheon for the children at noon, with enough remaining to serve a steaming cup, with toasted croutons, for a dinner entree.

Six pared medium potatoes, four cups boiling water, (or part meat stock); nine cups milk; one-eighth teaspoon celery seed (or dried celery leaves); three peeled medium onions; three tablespoons butter; two and one-half teaspoons salt; two tablespoons chopped parsley; six strips of diced bacon.

Cut the potatoes and onions coarse and cook in the boiling water in a covered saucepan until tender, about 20 minutes. Add the butter, milk, salt, pepper, parsley and celery. Just before serving, add the diced bacon, cooked crisp and well drained. Or the onion may be browned with butter and added to the boiling potatoes, still reserving the bacon until last.

Fish and Chips

Start your dinner party with this snappy appetizer: Spread potato chips with a soft paste made from mashed smoked sardines, mixed with a little catsup, mayonnaise and a few drops of lemon juice. Serve with iced tomato juice, or sauerkraut juice.

Lemon-Banana Pie

Bananas are uniform as a year-round fruit, and for their whole-some goodness, combined with apple appeal. They are a food economy, too, which makes these two banana recipes even more welcome.

Three bananas; one cup sugar; one-half teaspoon salt; five tablespoons cornstarch; one-fourth cup orange juice; yolks of two or three eggs; one and one-third cups boiling water; juice and grated rind of one lemon; one tablespoon butter.

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt together. Add boiling water and cook directly over fire one minute, stirring constantly. Place in double boiler and cook fifteen minutes. Add egg yolks, slightly beaten, and fruit juices. Add butter just before removing from fire. Cool slightly, and add one banana, sliced thin. Blend well. Pile in a baked pastry shell; then slice remaining bananas over top. Cover with a meringue and brown delicately in a cool oven.

Gingersnap Bananas

Three bananas; one teaspoon sugar; one-fourth teaspoon salt; one well-beaten egg; twelve crushed small gingersnaps; shortening. Combine egg, sugar and salt. Cut bananas lengthwise. Dip in egg mixture and roll in gingersnap crumbs. Fry in deep shortening, 360 degrees, until brown. Serve hot. These may be served with lemon sauce, or a tart fruit sauce.

Minus sugar in the batter, they make an excellent partner for cereals or fowl.

THE STORY OF THE VATICAN Ancient Splendor; Modern Science

BY PAUL ROSS

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Many tides of history have lapped at the walls of the Vatican with little effect. But twice in its existence great inundations have swept over it and left it greatly altered. The first was the Renaissance, the second the Twentieth Century.

Today, Vatican City is a 109-acre world which combines the beauties of Raphael with the utility of a railroad, where the master-works of Michelangelo rub shoulders with the epochal inventions of Marconi.

One of the most powerful radio stations in the world sits at one end of the roughly triangular Vatican grounds. Station HVJ was donated by Marconi himself and was supervised in construction by the great inventor. It was opened in 1931. It operates on power generated in the Vatican and uses two short wave lengths, 50.26 meters and 19.84 meters.

Three bananas; one cup sugar; one-half teaspoon salt; five tablespoons cornstarch; one-fourth cup orange juice; yolks of two or three eggs; one and one-third cups boiling water; juice and grated rind of one lemon; one tablespoon butter.

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt together. Add boiling water and cook directly over fire one minute, stirring constantly. Place in double boiler and cook fifteen minutes. Add egg yolks, slightly beaten, and fruit juices. Add butter just before removing from fire. Cool slightly, and add one banana, sliced thin. Blend well. Pile in a baked pastry shell; then slice remaining bananas over top. Cover with a meringue and brown delicately in a cool oven.

Gingersnap Bananas

Three bananas; one teaspoon sugar; one-fourth teaspoon salt; one well-beaten egg; twelve crushed small gingersnaps; shortening. Combine egg, sugar and salt. Cut bananas lengthwise. Dip in egg mixture and roll in gingersnap crumbs. Fry in deep shortening, 360 degrees, until brown. Serve hot. These may be served with lemon sauce, or a tart fruit sauce.

Minus sugar in the batter, they make an excellent partner for cereals or fowl.

Crossing some beautifully landscaped grounds one comes to the railroad and station built by Pius XI. The road is 200 yards long and connects with the railway system of Rome. It is not used very much.

The Vatican also owns a German monoplane but this is parked in a Roman airport for there is no room to build a landing field.

Wandering around the grounds one would come upon the little jail which is nearly always empty, the handsome Civil Government Palace built at the order of Pius XI, the Ethiopian College where members of Mussolini's new subject race come to study for the Roman Catholic priesthood, the large buildings housing the Papal staff, the famous Vatican Gardens, the fine Vatican Observatory, the Academy of Science, the Papal Palace and the factory-residence section where the plain people live. Here is located the two-level garage built by Pius XI. It houses about 100 autos belonging to various officials. The Pope has five cars for his personal use. His American car bears license No. 1.

In the factory-residential area is the modern printing plant erected by Pius XI. The plant has rotary presses and linotype machines. Here are printed the Papal daily "Osservatore Romano," which may consider the freest paper in Italy; a weekly illustrated paper called "Illustrazione Vaticana," and a weekly political review, "Rassegna Internazionale."

Near the Osservatore building are the Vatican power house and the machine shops where everything from household gadgets to heavy machinery is repaired by the corps of skilled mechanics.

In this area is the "village post office," a modernistic building erected by Pius XI. Nearby is the "village pharmacy" where drugs—only—are sold. The Vatican's 1000 inhabitants are under the care of three doctors. Serious cases are hospitalized outside in Rome.

The Vatican has an automatic telephone system with 800 instruments, over 200 miles of wire, 30 trunk lines connecting it with the outer world. It publishes its own phone directory. The Pope's number is 101 but you can't phone him.

None of these modern utilities have dimmed the glory of those other things for which the Vatican was famous; its books, its art. The library, renovated and fireproofed by Pius XI, contains nearly a half million printed books and many thousands of Greek and Latin manuscripts.

No other place has been painted, sculpted and decorated by so many geniuses.

The most famous art spot in the Vatican—and one of the finest on earth—is the Sistine Chapel built by the Renaissance Pope, Sixtus IV. He commissioned five geniuses—Perugino, Signorelli, Botticelli, Ghirlandajo and Michaelangelo—to decorate it. The first four took the walls, the last the ceiling. Michaelangelo's work makes a fitting climax to the rest of the room. Here are the famous "Creation of Adam," "Judgment" and "Jonah," heroic paintings which are the envy and delight of artists.

Next most famous art spots are the Loggia and Stanza of Raphael. The Stanza comprises four rooms decorated by the great Raphael at the invitation of the Renaissance Pope, Julius II. It contains the famous "Burning of the Borgo," "Painting of the Sacrament," "Athenian School," "Mass of Bolsena," "Eliodoro" and "Liberation of St. Peter."

The Loggia is a very long gallery ornamented by stuccos and paintings of Old and New Testament scenes. Raphael designed and planned the decorations and his several pupils executed them.

In the Sala di Raffaello (Raphael) hangs this master's dramatic and thrilling "Transfiguration," showing Christ on Mount Tabor. Near it hangs his "Madonna di Foligno."

There are many, many famous paintings scattered through the Vatican galleries, works like Titian's "St. Sebastian," Caravaggio's "Deposition," da Vinci's "St. Jerome in the Desert," Domenichino's "Communion of St. Jerome," Murillo's "Holy Family."

Aside from its fabulous collection of paintings and frescoes, the Vatican houses the world's greatest collection of the art of ancient Greece and Rome.

Japanese Plan To Land Troops Below Shanghai

Shanghai, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Japanese authorities served notice today that they intended to land troops at Haimen, 200 miles land from the coast from Shanghai, late tomorrow in a new move to tighten the China coast blockade. They warned all foreign shipping to stand clear of a 30-mile zone in Taichow Bay, where the port is located.

Haimen is one of the few remaining ports through which the Chinese still are able to send supplies for their troops in the interior. They transport the supplies by motor road to Kinwha, 100 miles west of Haimen, and by rail from there to Nanchang.

The occupation of Haimen also would halt traffic on the Lin river and threaten hitherto untouched territory in East Chekiang province, including the towns of Lukiao, Hwangyung, Linhai and Wenling.

Meanwhile, Americans at Hoihow and Kungchow, on Hainan island, were reported to be safe. A radio message, the first communication from foreigners within the area invaded by the Japanese Friday, however, left the fate of 15 other Americans at Kacheik and Nodoo undisclosed.

England now regularly imports mutton from Iceland.

THE NEW 1940 RINSO GIVES FAR RICHER SUDS IN OUR HARD WATER

THAT'S BECAUSE THE NEW 1940 RINSO CONTAINS AN AMAZING NEW "SUDS-BOOSTER"

JUST SEE HOW THE DISHES SPARKLE... THERE ISN'T A TRACE OF GREASY FILM ON THEM

AND THE NEW 1940 RINSO FEELS SO NICE TO MY HANDS

● The New 1940 Rinso is here a year ahead of time with a new "suds-boosters" added at no extra cost to you. Rinso's richer suds make dish-washing speedy. A quick soaking... a swish with the dish mop... a rinse and the dishes are ready to dry shiny clean. Pots and pans are a cinch, too. Just put them to soak in hot Rinso suds and forget about them until the meal is over. Let Rinso do the hard work. After dinner you'll find them easy to clean—bright and shiny.

CASTOR OIL

IS USED IN THE HYDRAULIC BRAKE FLUID OF MANY MODERN AUTOMOBILES.

WHAT IS THE NAME OF THE GROOVE BETWEEN YOUR NOSE AND LIP?

ANSWER: Filtrum. Automobile manufacturers have found castor oil an excellent fluid for hydraulic brakes, since it is the only known lubricant that does not affect rubber. It is used in mixture with alcohol, or some such solvent.

NEXT: Where cotton plants grow into trees.

Diplomats In Rome Express Condolences
Vatican City, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The German ambassador to the Vatican, Diego Von Bergen, led his diplomatic colleagues today in a call upon the College of Cardinals to present formally their condolences upon the death of Pope Pius XI.

Cardinal Pignatelli di Belmonte, head of the college, replied to his address.

The cardinal rose and doffed red skull caps as the diplomats entered, with Von Bergen followed in order of seniority by the envoys from Peru, France, Italy, Colombia, Belgium, Spain and Rumania, along with several ministers and charge d'affaires.

There were 40 cardinals at the congregation today, the largest number since the death of Pius last Friday. Cardinal Marchetti Selvaggiani's injured foot was improved and it was believed he would be able to attend the conclave to name a new Pope.

The sound of hammer and saw rang in the papal palace as workmen hurried their preparation of the cells, assembly hall and kitchens which will be the locked domain of cardinals during the conclave.

Engineer Camillo Rebecchini's men had at most 13 days to make ready the "city within a city." The conclave is to start not later than March 1 but it might start a day sooner, since the last of the cardinals expected likely will arrive then.

The fifth of nine funeral masses for the late pontiff, Pius XI, was sung this morning in St. Peter's.

United States Ambassador William Phillips is expected to attend mass tomorrow at the church of Sant' Andrea Della Valle when Premier Mussolini, the Italian royal family and government officials will take part in observing Italy's day of mourning for Pope Pius.

Memphis City, TVA
Buy Memphis Utility

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 16.—(AP)—This city and the Tennessee Valley Authority bought the Memphis Power & Light Company's electric and gas properties today for $17,360,000—$767,000 less than was offered last month and $3,640,000 less than the utility originally demanded.

The city will pay $15,250,000 and the TVA $2,110,000, said a formal statement from the municipal light and water board. Besides the electric and gas facilities, properties in the transfer include a large office building, one large generating plant and some real estate. The deal completed a clean sweep for TVA in the four major Tennessee cities — Memphis, Chattanooga, Knoxville and Nashville. A Knoxville deal was negotiated last fall and recently the authority and Commonwealth & Southern Corp. came to terms at $78,600,000 for C. & S.'s Tennessee Electric Power Co., serving Nashville, Chattanooga and scores of smaller cities.

Farmer Confesses He Killed Neighbor on Sunday Morning

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 16.—(AP)—An old feud between two southern Indiana hill families was blamed today for the confessed ambush killing of a 41-year-old farmer by his next-door neighbor. Donald F. Stiver, state police superintendent, announced the confession at headquarters in Indianapolis last night. He said Samuel Pierce, 69, had admitted shooting, clubbing and stabbing Earl R. Roach until he died Sunday morning of here near the village of Avoca. Pierce, a six-foot, 185 pound man in overalls, calmly explained to newspaper men: "Roach's uncle killed my brother, Bill, 40 years ago."

Feeling against Pierce was running here and he was placed in a nearby jail overnight for safe keeping.

A searching party of WPA men and others found Roach's battered body Tuesday. It had been leaped against a tree and covered partially by underbrush. Roach had been missing two days.

Argued Over Fence Sheriff Lincoln Dunbar of Lawrence county arrested Pierce and his son, Ray, 27, because, he said, they had argued with Roach over placing of a line fence. The son was freed yesterday. The elderly farmer has three other sons and five daughters.

Stiver said Samuel Pierce's fingerprints were on a bloody club which lay near Roach's body. Police said Pierce confessed as detectives made ready to use a lie detector on him.

Sheriff Dunbar said a feud between the Pierces and the Roachs family had been going on for "years and years."

"They fought over line fences, water holes and almost everything," he added.

Pierce admitted, the sheriff said, he had waited behind bushes three or four afternoons before the Sunday morning slaying.

Detailed Account

The man gave a detailed account of the killing in a signed statement Stiver released. "I just shot him and he fell to the ground," the confession read, "and I got me a club and knocked him in the head. . . I couldn't kill him knocking him in the head, so I had to cut his throat and bleed him to death."

The opening volley—No. 4 shot fired from a 10-gauge shotgun—did not kill Roach, the statement explained, because it passed through a sack he had on his back.

"After killing him I threw him out of the road in the bushes," the confession went on. "He was too heavy for me to handle or carry very far. He never said a word. He went to get up after I shot him, and that was when I knocked him in the head."

At the present time, approximately 75 per cent of all automobiles purchased in the United States are bought on the time-payment plan.

The yearly cost of accidents in the United States, including loss of wages, has been estimated by the National Safety council at $3,700,000,000.

W. B. Leach, Assistant
Bar Examiner, is Dead

Bloomington, Ill.—(AP)—William Blake Leach, 61, an assistant state bar examiner and a former instructor in the Illinois Wesleyan law school, died in a hospital last night, apparently from a heart attack. Leach, who was instructor at the law school from 1903 to 1927, also was assistant state's attorney of McLean county from 1912 to 1930.

He is survived by his widow; a son, Shelton B., assistant state's attorney of McLean county; a daughter, Mrs. Marian Glasgow of Monticello, and two sisters, Miss Carrie Munson and Mrs. Carrie Munson, both of McLean.
